

Data Transmission

O'Neal Consultants has years of experience in assisting clients in selecting a data transmission vendor, and knows the domestic and international players serving the industry. We stay informed of the latest issues facing carriers including pricing, so that it's easier for you to select the appropriate vendor.

O'Neal Consultants' comprehensive approach begins with a process of discovery that pinpoints the client's special needs and the range of desired services within the geographic area being served. Next, O'Neal Consultants creates a detailed specification request which describes the requirements, and delivers these to geographically appropriate, pre-approved carriers. After analyzing the vendor's responses, O'Neal Consultants will recommend the best carrier for your needs. We manage every step, from contract negotiations and preparation, to monitoring the actual installation process. Afterwards, O'Neal Consultants performs a final inspection to assure compliance with the contract, and if satisfactory, recommends acceptance.
